The background of the slide is a dark, high-contrast photograph of an industrial machine, likely a CNC lathe or mill. The machine is primarily grey and white, with some red components visible. It features various cables (blue, yellow, black) and hoses connected to it. In the foreground, there's a large, rectangular metal block with several circular ports or holes. To the right, a black handle or lever is visible. The entire image is overlaid with several parallel orange diagonal lines that run from the bottom left towards the top right, creating a modern, technical feel.
